

The proposal to force all broadcasters to record all programming 24/7 reminds of grade school. One kid would act up in the classroom, and the whole class would have to stay in at recess. Wasn't fair then, isn't fair now. Our stations do not broadcast indecent materials. Never have, never will. Why should we be forced to stay in at recess when we were paying attention in class. Not only is the added expense a burden, the logistics of maintaining and archiving (for whatever period of time is deemed necessary) the recorded programming will be a nightmare. We are small market radio. We have a small staff that already multi-tasks to keep the station profitable. To ask the staff to do this additional duty because Bubba The Love Sponge uttered some obscenities is a hardship that is unwarranted.
